LONDON, November 18.

To the PRINTER of the St. JAMES's CHRONICLE.

SIR,

A Great deal of random Abuſe is thrown out againſt the ſuppoſed Preliminaries of Peace. Whether this Abuſe is well founded, we leave to the true well-meaning Lovers of their Country to determine, after they have maturely weighed the preſent Condition of our Poſſeſſions (according to the ſuppoſed Preliminaries) againſt our Condition at the Commencement of the War, and after they have compared our preſent Condition, with what it would have been, if the Peace we would have made laſt Year had been ratified.

Enumeration of the Acquiſitions made, and confirmed to G. B. according to the ſuppoſed Preliminaries.

From FRANCE.

1. The whole of Canada, Cape Breton, Louiſburgh, the Excluſion of the French from fiſhing in the Gulph of St. Lawrence, or the Banks of Cape Breton, St. John's, Anticoſte and Gaſpee, allowing them inſtead of an unlimited Claim, only a ſmall limited Shore to cure and catch Fiſh; no Harbour but at Miquelon and St. Pierre, where none but French Ships can touch; and no Fort but for 50 Men, ſubject to the Inſpection of an Engliſh Commiſſary.

2. The moſt valuable Part of Louiſiana, the River Miſſiſippi being declared the Boundary, the Engliſh to have the Navigation of the Miſſiſippi down to the Sea.

3. Granada and the Granadillas.

4. Tobago, Dominica, and St. Vincent's.

5. Senegal.

6. The Excluſion of the French from the Kingdom of Bengal except three Factories, with no more than 16 Men to Garriſon each.

Beſides the Demolition of Dunkirk, the evacuating Nieuport and Oſtend, and Portugal, and withdrawing the French Armies from Germany.

From SPAIN.

1. St. Auguſtine, and the whole Country of Florida, which now makes the whole North-America ours from the Miſſiſippi to the Ocean, in the Poſſeſſion of which vaſt Empire we can never be diſturbed, having undiſputable Boundaries, the Ocean and the Miſſiſippi, no Poſſibility of an Attack from the weak Remainder of Louiſiana, or from the Indians unſupported by the French.

2. The Right of the Engliſh to cut Log-wood allowed, for which we entered into a long Spaniſh War in 1739, which coſt us many Millions, and did not obtain it at laſt.

3. The Spaniſh Claim to a Newfoundland Fiſhery given up, which was the Foundation of the preſent Spaniſh War, and occaſioned the Continuance of the French one.

Beſides which, Portugal to be immediately evacuated.

Now let us ſee what Ceſſions Great Britain has made in Return.

To FRANCE.

St. Lucia, already ſettled by them under a diſputed Title, France yielding to us Tobago, Dominica and St. Vincents, likewiſe diſputed Titles.

To SPAIN.

NOTHING.

Beſides all this, England has the Glory and Advantage of having ſaved two Kings her Allies, totally reſcued Portugal from inevitable Deſtruction, and raiſed Pruſſia from as bad a Situation, to be now ſuperior to his only remaining Enemy; has taken or deſtroyed one Third of the whole Spaniſh Fleets, and two Thirds of the French; and enriched Great Britain with more Spaniſh Treaſure in a few Months, than was ever done in the Courſe of the longeſt War; has without any Ceſſions on her Part, obtained every deſirable Conceſſion, beyond the Reach of future Cavalling, nothing being left to future commiſſorial Diſcuſſions, all Things being deſcribed and fixed with the cleareſt Preciſion, a Preciſion never obtained, nor even ſo much as aimed at in any former Treaty; the Want of which occaſioned our two laſt Wars: And if our Enemies ſhould ever attempt to interrupt a Peace, ſo much wanted for the Recovery of our Finances, ſuch is our Situation, according to the ſuppoſed Preliminaries, they muſt fight us entirely upon our own Element; the War muſt be totally inſular, unleſs we are mad enough to Don Quixot it again in Germany.

As the Terms inſiſted upon laſt Year were univerſally allowed to be honourable and advantageous, let us compare them with the preſent, though now our Debt is increaſed 12 Millions, our Enemies are doubled, and we have Portugal to defend.

Enumerations of the Acquiſitions made by Great Britain according to the ſuppoſed Preliminaries, over and above what was aſked by the laſt Year's Treaty, or we ſhould have had, if our Enemies had acquieſced in all our Demands.

From SPAIN.

Every Country, Claim, &c. &c. above recited.

From FRANCE.

Art. 1. Inſtead of an unlimited Right of Fiſhery, as by the Treaty of Utrecht, a very limited one as in the Article above, preciſely aſcertained, and impoſſible but by our own Neglect to hurt ours.

Art. 2. Entirely additional, which gives us an undiſputable Boundary, the Miſſiſippi, and an immenſe Country, inſtead of Vaudreuil's Boundary, never aſcertained, a ſure Source of a future War.

Art. 3. Granada and the Granadillas, entirely additional, which beſides being rich Sugar Iſlands, have one of the fineſt Harbours in the Weſt-Indies, much wanted by us.

Art. 4. One of the three Neutral Iſlands, as we were to have divided the four Neutral Iſlands with three French, and they would have had one of theſe with St. Lucia.

Art. 6. The contracting and confining the French Factories in India, with a Preciſion not to be diſputed, inſtead of being referred to Commiſſaries at large, who would never agree to ſuch Conditions: Another Source of a future War.

Now for all theſe Acquiſitions we have made by this Peace, over and above what we ſhould have made by that honourable and advantageous one which was propoſed and ſo much applauded laſt Year, what has Great Britain leſs than ſhe would have had if laſt Year's Peace had taken Place? The Anſwer is---Nothing---except giving Goree as the Settlement which the French were by that Treaty to have for the Purchaſe of Slaves.

This is the fair State of the Caſe, if the ſuppoſed Preliminaries are really genuine; and if they are, without expatiating upon the Advantage and Glory of them, which is infinite and ſelf-evident, let every honeſt, unbiaſſed Lover of his Country, lay his Hand upon his Heart, and pronounce Sentence upon the Contrivers; Whether all the Abuſe and Obloquy they have met with, or whether the greateſt Honours and Applauſe a grateful People can beſtow, are due to them?"

As the Ceſſion of Florida to England, by the Treaty of Peace actually on the Carpet, is believed by all Parties, the following Deſcription of that Country cannot be diſagreeable.

THE Name of FLORIDA was given by the Spaniards to all that Part of the Continent lying North of the Gulph of Mexico, and bordering on the Atlantick Ocean to the Eaſt.

Florida proper is, at preſent, that Peninſula lying between Georgia and Cape Florida. The Air of this Region is pure and temperate, and the Country in general Healthy. It is more ſubject to Heat than Cold, being only a few degrees North of the Tropic of Cancer; but though the former is ſometimes very great, it is much tempered at times by the Sea-breezes. The Country abounds with all ſorts of Timber; but the Tree moſt valued in it is Saſſafras, called by the Natives of Florida, Palama or Pavama, large Quantities of which are annually exported. It never riſes to a greater Height than a ſmall Pine, growing both on the Shore, and on the Mountains, but always on a Soil neither very dry nor very moiſt. The Spaniards of St. Matheo and St. Auguſtine, having been almoſt every one ſeized with Fevers, from the Uſe of bad Food and muddy Water, were told by the French to take Saſſafras in the ſame Manner, as they had ſeen it uſed by the Savages; that is, to cut the Root into ſmall Pieces, and boil it in Water; which having done, and drinking the Liquor faſting, and at their Meals, they found it perfectly cured them. Several other Experiments have been made with it; and, if we may believe them, there is hardly any Malady that can withſtand the Efficacy of this Drink. It was their ſole Remedy, and univerſal Preſervative, in Florida; but when they are ſhort of Proviſions, they do not uſe it, becauſe it would create an eager Appetite, ſtill more inſupportable than any Diſorder whatever.

The many Rivers with which Florida is watered, not only abound with Fiſh, but render it inferior to no Country, either in Pleaſantneſs or Fertility. The Coaſt indeed is ſandy; but a little farther from the Sea, the Soil is ſo good as to yield all ſorts of Grain. Almoſt every where they have two Crops of Indian Corn in a Year. All along the Coaſt, and 2 or 300 Miles up the Country from the Sea, they have the Root of which the Caſſave Flour and Bread is made in the greateſt Part of America betwixt the two Tropics, and is reckoned as good as our Manchet. There is good Beef, Veal, and Mutton, with plenty of Hogs, eſpecially on the Sea Coaſt. They have Cocoa Nuts, Acorns, and other Math

Here are Horſes not only for Draught, but alſo for the Saddle. Their Cattle have a long black ſort of Hair, or rather Wool, ſo fine, that with ſome ſmall Mixture, it is thought it would be preferable to common Wool for Hats, Cloathing, and other Neceſſaries. Though COTTON grows wild here in great Plenty, yet it is not manufactured. Of Bark of Trees they make Thread, Cords, and Ropes. Upon the whole Coaſt, for 200 Leagues, are ſeveral Beds of Oyſters; and in Freſh-water Lakes and Rivers, there is a ſort of Shell-fiſh, between a Muſcle and a Pearl-Oyſter, in ſome of which are found Pearls, and many larger than ordinary. From Cape Florida to Mexico, both to the Eaſt and Weſt of the Miſſiſippi, is to be found alſo, eſpecially after South Winds, a ſort of Stone-pitch, which the Spaniards, who call it Coſica, moiſten with Greaſe, and uſe it for their Veſſels in the nature of Pitch; and they ſay it is much better than ours in hot Countries, as not being ſo apt to melt.

In Lat. 26. 56. and a good Way upwards, the Coaſt of the Main Land of Florida cannot be approached, by Reaſon of the Shoals and ſmall Iſlands, moſt of which are very low and barren, and ſo cloſe together that Canoes of Bark can hardly paſs between them. Few Savages inhabit this Part of the Country; but the Coaſt is the Kingdom, as it were, of Oyſters. All its Shore abounds in Mangrove Trees, to which adhere a prodigious Quantity of ſmall Oyſters; others much larger are to be met with in the Sea, and in ſuch Numbers, that they are ſometimes taken for Rocks, level with the Surface of the Water.

Genoa, Oct. 25. We have Advice from Corſica, that a Nephew of Gian Carlo, one of Paoli's principal Officers, having been taken Priſoner, was generouſly ſet at Liberty by General Matra. The Youth, on his Return to Paoli, was made Governor of the Fort of Coſcia, built by the Rebels to cut off our Communication with Macinaggio. As ſoon as he had taken Poſſeſſion of his new Command, to teſtify his Gratitude to Matra, he delivered up to him the Fort with which he had been entruſted by Paoli, and which is ſo ſtrong, that it cannot eaſily be retaken. The Poſſeſſion of it makes the Genoeſe Maſters of all Cape Corſe.

Turin, Oct. 20. During the late Storms, an Engliſh Man of War came for Shelter into the Port of Villa Franca, and moored there very ſafely. About two Hours after, two French Ships of War, one of which carried 64 Guns, the other of ſmaller Force, and the Minerva Frigate, which had all ſuffered much by the Storm, came alſo into Villa Franca, and having neither Time nor Room to chooſe their Moorings, dropped their Anchors in a Part that was interſperſed with Rocks, even with the Water's Edge, and much expoſed to the Wind, which ſtill continued to blow very violently. The Intendant of the Navy immediately ſent off Boats to acquaint the French Commodore with his Danger, and aſſiſt him to avoid it; but theſe Boats came too late to ſave the Minerva, which had already ſtruck againſt a Rock and ſunk. Fifty of her Crew were drowned. The reſt, after ſtruggling for ſome Time againſt the Waves, were taken up alive. The Captain of the Engliſh Man of War ſent all his Boats, with the greateſt Diligence, to aſſiſt the French Ships, and they contributed not a little to ſave the 64 Gun Ship, which was for ſome Time in imminent Danger.

Admiralty-Office, Oct. 24. His Majeſty's Cutters, the Grace, and Endeavour, have taken, and brought into the Downs, Le Charlequint Privateer, of 8 Carriage Guns, and 30 Men.

Oct. 26. His Majeſty's Ship the Cornwall, commanded by Capt. Man, being on a Cruiſe off Uſhant, on the 19th Inſtant fell in with, and, after a few Hours Chace, took, a Snow called the Levrette, with ſix Carriage Guns, and 55 Men, and bound from Nantz to Breſt.

Oct. 27. His Majeſty's Ship the Venus, commandd by Capt. Harriſon, being on a Cruize, on the 15th Inſtant fell in with, and, after a Chace of three Hours, took the Crozon, a Schooner belonging to the French King, of 6 Guns, and 36 Men, which had been cruiſing in the Latitude of 40 Deg. and from that to 48 Deg. 30 Min.

LONDON, October 21.

The following remarkable Declaration, bearing Date the 19th of Auguſt laſt, hath been delivered to M. Praſſe, the King of Poland's Reſident at Peterſburgh.

"Her Imperial Majeſty of all the Ruſſias ſincerely commiſerates the diſtreſsful Condition of the King's Electoral Dominions; and, deeply affected with the mournful Accounts which the Reſident hath communicated to her, will immediately cauſe the ſtrongeſt Repreſentations to be made to her Majeſty the Empreſs Queen, and to his Pruſſian Majeſty, not only by their Miniſters reſiding at this Court, but alſo by her own Miniſters at Vienna and Berlin. She will prevail with thoſe two Powers to withdraw their Armies from the Territories of Saxony, till the general Peace; and not only evacuate the Electoral Reſidence, but alſo all the Countries dependent thereon; to the End that his Majeſty the King of Poland may be reſtored to the full Enjoyment of all that belongs to him as Elector of Saxony. On the other Hand, ſufficient Aſſurances ſhall be given to the two Powers at War, that the Frontiers of the reſpective Dominions of Auſtria and Pruſſia ſhall not be moleſted on the Side of Saxony, and the Countries dependent on it. For this End, the Dominions of Saxony ſhall be occupied by the Saxon Troops, whoſe Number cannot be ſufficient to give Ground of Jealouſy or Suſpicion to either of the belligerant Powers. If this Regulation ſhould take Place, her Imperial Majeſty is ready to guaranty it, if that ſhould be neceſſary.

"This Declaration is delivered to the Reſident, in Anſwer to the PRO MEMORIA which he lately preſented; that he may inform his Court of her Imperial Majeſty's Intentions on an Object ſo intereſting to the King."

The Empreſs, in Conſequence of this Declaration, hath ſent proper Inſtructions to her Miniſters at the Courts of Vienna and Berlin, to open this Negociation; but it is difficult to foreſee what will be the Iſſue of it.

The Empreſs Queen's Anſwer to the Propoſals made to her by the Czarina, relative to Saxony, was as follows.

"That warm and affectionate Concern which her Imperial Majeſty of all the Ruſſias expreſſes for the melancholy State and Oppreſſion of Saxony; that Compaſſion which the Reverſe of Fortune under which his Majeſty of Poland has laboured ſo many Years, excites in her beneficent Breaſt, thoſe Feelings of Humanity which gave Riſe to the Propoſal mentioned in the Declaration delivered to the Ambaſſador the Count de Mercy, for evacuating the Electoral Dominions of Saxony; all theſe could not but affect her Majeſty the Empreſs Queen very ſenſibly. She diſcovers, in the Views and Intentions of the Empreſs of all the Ruſſias, ſo much Conformity with the open Acts by which her Majeſty hath conſtantly manifeſted her Friendſhip for the King of Poland, that ſhe ardently wiſhes to be able to concur in what Juſtice and Humanity ſo ſtrongly require.

"The Efforts which her Majeſty the Empreſs Queen hath made, and continues to make, for the Defence and Deliverance of Saxony, are known to all Europe. It has not been her Fault, that her Friend the King of Poland has not enjoyed undiſturbed Tranquility, amidſt a War in which the Empreſs Queen's own Dominions have been ravaged; ſhe never aſked him for any Aſſiſtance, or to take any Step, or give any Demonſtration that could draw upon him the Reſentment of his Pruſſian Majeſty; and ſeeing him involved againſt his Will in the War, her Majeſty, without any Heſitation, offered, and actually gave, him all the Aſſiſtance in her Power.

"Theſe Circumſtances will undoubtedly juſtify to the whole World, the Satisfaction that muſt ariſe from the Difference between defending and oppreſſing of a Country: But her Majeſty is only the more eager to ſtudy and embrace any proper Expedient for obtaining a juſt and reaſonable Peace: And as her Majeſty the Empreſs of all the Ruſſias looks upon the Evacuation of Saxony as one Means to attain that End, nothing more will be neceſſary, than to prove the Solidity of the Hopes conceived on that Head, by making known his Pruſſian Majeſty's Sentiments relative thereto. As ſoon as the King of Pruſſia ſhall have exclaimed himself, on the Time and Manner of evacuating the Electoral Estates of Saxony by his Troops, her Majesty the Empress, in Concert with her Allies, in order to facilitate the Evacuation, will do all that his Majesty the King of Poland can promise himself from her Friendship, and which may more and more convince Her Majesty the Empress of all the Russias, how earnestly it is wished that her Desires, relative to this important Object, may meet with Success correspondent to that Greatness of Soul from whence it took its Rise."

Oct. 23. It is rumoured that Earl Gower will be appointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

It is said there will be a 100l. Lottery, and a Guinea Lottery, for raising the next Year's Supplies, without further Taxes.

Oct. 28. Captain William Johnson writes to his Owners in London, from on board the Oswald, at Spithead, Oct. 23. "On the 20th Inst. between the Start Point and Portland, I fell in with, and took, the L'Esperance Snow Privateer, of Dunkirk, mounting 10 four Pounders, and 38 Men, commanded by John Marnard; she had been out five Days, and taken nothing; his Consort, a Brig, was in Sight, which I imagined was chased and taken by one of his Majesty's Ships. I chased the Snow seven Hours, at the Rate of 10 and 11 Knots close by the Wind, during which Time she threw overboard eight of her Guns: She is a fine Vessel, never at Sea before, sails remarkably fast; and had not the Oswald been a remarkable fast sailing Ship, she would not have come up with her."

Nov. 4. Extract of a Letter from on board the Arrogant, lying at Gibraltar, Sept. 16. "I have no News to write, only to let you know that the French have 17 Sail of the Line at Toulon, which have been victualled and ready to come down these seven Months, but are afraid to meet our Fleet, which consists of 18 Sail of the Line. The Spaniards have 13 Sail of the Line at Cadiz, but they are as ready to sail now as they were when the Spanish War was declared, for they are not half manned. The Fleet at Toulon wants to join the Fleet at Cadiz, but cannot, on Account of our cruizing always with an Easterly Wind in the Gut of Gibraltar."

In a Letter from Vienna, of good Credit, dated the 13th ult. in the following Passage. "The Plague hath broke out in Bosnia, and particularly at Belgrade, where it makes terrible Havock. They write from Semlin, that between 2 and 300 are carried off by it there in a Day: They add, that several Bodies of Turkish Soldiers were arrived in the Neighbourhood of that City; that it was supposed they had come of their own Motion, to avoid the Contagion that rages in the interior Parts of the neighbouring Provinces. This Conjecture seems to be the more probable, as these Troops have found no Provisions there; for which Reason it is feared they will commit Disorders. A double Line is formed on the Frontiers, to prevent the Contagion from spreading."

As soon as the King of Prussia was Master of Schweidnitz, he assembled all the Austrian Safe-Guards, who had been posted in the Villages and Castles situated between the two Armies, and sent them back, saying, That his own Troops were sufficient to protect the Country. Great Quantities of Corn, Meal, and other Provisions, are privately buying up at Hamburgh for the Use of the Prussians; which are sent up the Elbe to Magdebourg. This has rendered every Thing excessive dear at Hamburgh.

Nov. 18. They write from Ratisbon of the 1st Inst. that Baron Plotho, the King of Prussia's Minister, had presented to the Diet, in his Master's Name, a Memorial, importing,

"That it was well known, that his Prussian Majesty, in order to put a Stop to the further Effusion of human Blood, and relieve the respective Subjects and Countries, had in the Month of May last, made a Peace with Sweden, by restoring Things to the Footing on which they were in the Year 1720. That his Majesty was desirous to communicate this happy Event to the States of the Empire, hoping, that from this convincing Proof of his pacific Sentiments and Disposition, they would see what Concern it gave him, that the great Pains he had taken to restore the Peace of Germany, had proved fruitless, those who find their Account in continuing the War, having opposed it with all their Might: That nevertheless his Majesty would continue his utmost Endeavours for that Purpose, flattering himself, that all the States of the Empire would in the End perceive their Danger in taking Part in a War foreign to them; and that consulting for the future, their proper Interests, they would like true Patriots, efficaciously concur with his Majesty's salutary Views, by seconding his Wishes and Endeavours to obtain a speedy Restoration of the Peace and Tranquility of Germany, which hath for so many Years groaned under the Calamities of War, that by this Means the System of the Empire, as well as the Liberty and Prerogatives of the States of the Empire, agreeably to its fundamental Constitution, might be restored and maintained"

BOSTON, January 20.

On Wednesday last, as four Men were returning from Castle-William about Sun-set, in Canoes, they were met by a large Body of Ice, and carried away therewith. It was very dark and stormy before they were heard, and large Quantities of Ice borne down by the Tide, no Assistance could be afforded them, tho' all possible Means were used therefor. Thus they were unavoidably left in thick Darkness, to the Mercy of the Wind and Tide, inclosed and almost sunk by vast Heaps of Ice and Snow, till about Ten in the Evening, when the surrounding Ice separating, they were driven to a Place of Safety, and were agreeably surprized to find themselves unexpectedly on Dorchester Neck.

Friday last, as Mr. Stone, with an Indian Fellow, was going to Point Shirley in a Canoe, the Ice floated them as far as the Gut, and the Canoe being filled with Water, obliged them to get out on a large Cake of Ice, which providentially floated along side of a Lighter that lay near the Shore, whereby they were saved from perishing.

A Sloop from this Port, bound to Old York at the Eastward, ------ Adams, Master, with a very valuable Cargoe, was cast away in a Storm, on a Place called the Salvages, near Cape Ann, the 5th of this Instant; but she afterwards got off again: A Boat from Cape Ann went immediately to their Assistance, but the Wind blowing very hard, and a high Sea, they could not possibly get on board, although they were so near as to hail the Sloop, and the People told them she was almost full of Water, and in a most moving Manner implored their Assistance, adding, that if they were not taken out soon, they should all perish; but every Effort made by the Boat for their Relief was in vain, and in a short Time after she sunk, and they all perished, being eight in number, Passengers included.

A House has lately been burnt in Plymouth, another in Kingston, and two more Fires have also happened in Boston, on the 15th and 16th Instant, by which three Houses were burnt, another damaged, and Goods to a considerable Value burnt and destroyed.

NEW-YORK, January 31.

Friday Evening last the Ship Hope, Captain Jacobson, arrived here, from London: He sailed from Spithead the 20th of November, in Company with the Captains Tillet and Budden, for Philadelphia; Captains Patrick and Farr, and another for Boston; several for Carolina and Virginia, in the whole 23 Sail, under Convoy of his Majesty's Ship the Nightingale, Lord Campbell, Commander: The whole Fleet passed the Lizard the 22d, and kept Company till the 27th, when Lord Campbell made a Signal for all the Ships to bring to, and informed the Captains that he had sprung his Main-mast, and intended to return to Plymouth; Captain Jacobson then left the Fleet, and stood to the Westward, and imagines the rest returned with the Man of War.

His Excellency the Honourable WILLIAM FRANKLIN, Esq; Governor of New-Jersey, with his Lady, was on board the Philadelphia Packet, Captain Budden.

The 20th of December in Lat. 38. 30. Lon. 58. Captain Jacobson spoke with the Edward, Captain Davis, from this Port for London, all well on board.

PHILADELPHIA, February 10.

Extract of a late Letter from London.

"Advices from Petersburgh mention, that old Count Munich, upon the Threats against the late Emperor, before his Confinement, advised him to throw himself upon the Mercy of his Guards, as the Grandson of the great Peter, and to offer Redress of every Grievance they complained of; which Advice, if it had been followed, might have saved him. It is added, that the Church had not the least Share in the Revolution; it was all the Work of a young Lady of 19, Niece to the Chancellor, and of the Russian Janizaries acting for the Empress, who thought herself neglected. She is allowed to be very able, and supposed to be firm in her Seat, at least for some considerable Time."

By a Gentleman from Bermuda we are informed, that on Sunday, the 23d ult. he spoke with Captain Hall, bound to Boston from London, who had been then out six Weeks, and told him, that he sailed in Company with two Ships for this Port, but parted with them soon after he came out.

Captain Falkner, in the Hanover Packet, is arrived at Jamaica from this Port. On his Passage, between Capes Mays and Nichola, he fell in with a Spanish Privateer Schooner, which rowed up within Gunshot of him, and was preparing her Stink-pots, &c. for boarding; but on receiving two Broadsides from Captain Falkner, and Captain Magnus Miller, also in a Letter of Marque from this Place, being in Company, the Spaniard thought proper to sheer off.

The following Account of the Loss of the Privateer Snow Monckton, Captain Byrne, bound to Martinico from this Port, was wrote by a Gentleman, who was on board the Vessel, viz.

Extract of a Letter from St. Pierre, in Martinico, December 30, 1762.

"I am, thro' the Providence of God, again arrived on Terra Firma, after the most disagreeable Scenes I ever went through, and escaping the most imminent and dreadful Dangers that the Mind of Man can form an Idea of. The Particulars of our unhappy Catastrophe you have as follows. On Tuesday, the 14th Instant, at Six in the Morning, in Lat. 16. 20. Long. 58. 40. being asleep, as were all the Passengers, and the Captain, a Squall of Wind took the Snow, and laid her down as far as the Main Hatches, which awaked me in my Cott, as it then hung along by the Cieling of the Cabbin, and hearing the Men on Deck calling out, we were sinking, the Dead Lights, Quarter Lights, and the Lee Cabbin Gun Port being lashed in, the Weather One providentially unlashed, to let in the fresh Air, I got out upon the Side, in my Shirt, thro' the Gun Port, my Cott being slung over the Gun; but had not been above one Minute on the Side, before the Vessel went down, Head foremost, as far as the Main Shrouds, when, seeing a Hen-coop floating along Side, I jumped into the Sea, and immediately the Vessel sunk. We had in Company the Brig Unity, Captain Faris, who sailed with us, having been separated from the Snow Gordon a Fortnight before; the Brig was about a Mile, or near it, a Head of us, when the Vessel went down, and as she was not three Minutes from the Time the Squall took her, till she was out of Sight, there was no Time to fire a Gun, or give any Signal of our Distress, but by our Cries, which she was too far off to hear, and about a League from us, before she missed the Vessel, and then could not be certain where she went down. Before I was one Moment on the Hen-coop, there were eight or ten along with me, with the Captain, the Weight of whom turned the Coop as fast as you could turn a Wheel in the Water; but I was enabled, thro' the Goodness of God, to get round as fast as any, and before most of them; all of whom sunk by Degrees, but one Man and myself, when we got one on each Side, and then could keep ourselves free from any Water; but the dreadful Screams of the poor Men drowning, and others calling for Assistance, were such as no Man can form a just Idea of, without seeing it. At last the Brig put about, and stood for us; but after she had come within about a Mile of us, they apprehended she had run beyond us, and put about again away from where we were. At that Moment the Scene redoubled the Horror of the former, as there then appeared no Means of our being preserved. Nothing could equal the Terribleness of our Situation! In the Midst of the Ocean, surrounded by dead Bodies floating, and others drowning! Numbers, I believe, gave up all Hopes, quit their Holds, and were drowned by their Despair of Relief; however, I still had my Confidence in God, that he would preserve me, and encouraged my Companion to have the same. In about an Hour more the Brig put about again, and stood for us, which gave us fresh Confidence and Spirits, and after some Time she put out her Boat, and took up as many of us as she could hold, among whom I was, being then naked as I was born, having taken off my Shirt in the Water, being bruised and torn in many Places. On our being put on board, the Boat was sent off again, and brought all that were then alive on board, which amounted to Forty-two Souls, Fifty-five having perished. I was about three Hours and a Half in the Water, before I was taken up; not one Article was saved from the Snow; as she went down so quick, nothing floated out of her; they could not even get the Barge out; the small Boat floated over the Booms, but so many jumped into her, that she filled immediately; however, sixteen were saved by holding by the Gunwale; those saved were Mr. Brown, a French Captain, and myself, Passengers; the Second and Third Lieutenants, the Gunner, and Boatswain; the rest Foremast Men: The Drowned were, Mr. Philips, a Passenger, the Captain, First Lieutenant, Master, Doctor, and First Prize Master; the others Foremast Men, and Petty Officers. Captain Faris, and his Crew, behaved exceedingly well, and did every Thing in their Power to save the People, and treated us with great Friendship while we were on board."

By the PHILADELPHIA PACKET, Captain BUDDEN, and the BRITANNIA, Captain TILLET, arrived in the River from London, but laſt from Plymouth, in ſeven Weeks Paſſage, we have the following Advices, viz.

PRELIMINARY ARTICLES of PEACE, between his BRITANNIC MAJESTY, the moſt CHRISTIAN KING, and the CATHOLIC KING. Signed at Fontainbleau the Third Day of November, 1762.

In the Name of the MOST HOLY TRINITY.

THE King of Great-Britain, and the moſt Chriſtian King, animated with the reciprocal deſire to re-eſtabliſh union and good underſtanding between them, as well for the good of mankind in general, as for that of their reſpective kingdoms, ſtates, and ſubjects, having reflected, ſoon after the rupture between Great-Britain and Spain, on the State of the negotiation of laſt year (which unhappily had not the deſired effect) as well as on the points in diſpute between the crowns of Great-Britain and Spain; their Britannic and moſt Chriſtian Majeſties began a Correſpondence, to endeavour to find means to adjuſt the differences ſubſiſting between their ſaid Majeſties. At the ſame time, the moſt Chriſtian King having communicated to the King of Spain theſe happy diſpoſitions, his Catholic Majeſty was animated with the ſame zeal for the good of mankind, and that of his ſubjects, and reſolved to extend and multiply the fruits of peace, by his concurrence in ſuch laudable intentions. Their Britannic, moſt Chriſtian, and Catholic Majeſties, having, in conſequence, maturely conſidered all the above points, as well as the different events which have happened during the courſe of the preſent negotiation, have, by mutual conſent, agreed on the following Articles, which ſhall ſerve as a baſis to the future treaty of peace. For which purpoſe his Britannic Majeſty has named and authorized John Duke and Earl of Bedford, Marquis of Taviſtock, &c. Miniſter of State of the King of Great-Britain, Lieutenant-General of his Forces, Keeper of his Privy Seal, Knight of the moſt Noble Order of the Garter, and his Britannic Majeſty's Miniſter Plenipotentiary to his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty; his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, Cæſar Gabriel de Choiſeul, Duke of Praſlin, Peer of France, Knight of the moſt Chriſtian King's Orders, Lieutenant-General of his Forces, Counſellor in all his Councils, and Miniſter and Secretary of State, of his Commands and Finances; and his Catholic Majeſty has likewiſe named and authorized, Don Jerome Grimaldi, Marquis de Grimaldi, Knight of the moſt Chriſtian King's Orders, Gentleman of the Bedchamber to his Catholic Majeſty in employment, and his Ambaſſador Extraordinary to his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty; who, after having duly communicated to each other their full powers in good form, have agreed on the following articles.

Article I. As ſoon as the Preliminaries ſhall be ſigned and ratified, ſincere friendſhip ſhall be re-eſtabliſhed between his Britannic Majeſty and his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, and between his ſaid Britannic Majeſty and his Catholic Majeſty, their kingdoms, ſtates, and ſubjects, by ſea and by land, in all parts of the world. Orders ſhall be ſent to the armies and ſquadrons, as well as to the ſubjects, of the three powers, to ſtop all hoſtilities, and to live in the moſt perfect union, forgetting what has paſſed, of which brought Misfortunes on the Kingdom. M. de Lally will not escape the public Animadverſion, and even his Chaſtiſement may be rigorous, if we are to judge by the divers Heads of Accuſation formed againſt him by the Officers who were under his Orders at Pondicherry, the Council of the ſame Place, and the Directors of the India Company. We know not yet whether he will be removed from the Baſtile to the Priſon of the Palace, to be tried by the Parliament, as guilty of Peculation (embezzling the Public Money) of which, among other Crimes, he is accuſed.

Brandebourg, Nov. 16. All the Manœuvres of our Troops are intended to draw the Imperialiſts, and Army of the Empire, from Saxony into Bohemia; but the advanced Seaſon, and the bad Roads, render this Enterprize very difficult; and, beſides, the Enemies have one great Advantage over our Troops; that is, the Poſſeſſion of Dreſden.

Dantzick, Oct. 30. We have not yet received any Accounts of the two Veſſels which ſailed from Stettin at the ſame time with that which was caſt away on the Coaſt adjoining to the Abbey of Oliva; and we now give them over as loſt. On board one of them were 400 Auſtrian Priſoners; on board the other were ſixty Auſtrian Officers, with moſt of their Wives and Children. The Baggage of theſe Officers who went by Land to Brandenburgh Pruſſia, was put on board theſe Veſſels.

Ratiſbon, Nov. 18. Letters of good Credit adviſe, that the Tartars have made an Irruption into Tranſylvania, and levied in that Province 80,000 Crowns; but that General Buckow was taking proper Meaſures to drive them off.

Stettin, Nov. 16. Part of the brave Garriſon of Schweidnitz, after ſurviving ſo many Dangers and Fatigues, at the famous Siege of that Place, hath periſhed at the Mouth of the Oder. Sixty Barges, on board which they were put, with other Priſoners of War, to be carried to Konigſberg, being overtaken by a Storm, Part of them were daſhed againſt the Rocks, and the reſt ſunk. Of the whole Number only nine Men were ſaved.

Ratiſbon, Nov. 19. The Miniſters of the Proteſtant Princes have publiſhed a Memorial, containing, amongſt other Things, ſome bold Declamations againſt the Courts of Vienna and France.

Paris, Nov. 22. In the Night, between the 15th and 16th Inſtant, a Fire broke out in one of the largeſt Buildings of the General Hoſpital at Chalone, in Champagne, which was intirely burnt down, with all that was in it. Fourteen Perſons periſhed in the Flames, and 16,800 Buſhels of Corn, laid up for the Uſe of the Poor, and a large Warehouſe, full of Woollen Goods, were intitely conſumed. Thoſe who were concerned in the Woollen Manufactory, will not recover the Loſs.

Hague, Nov. 29. Letters from Hamburgh, of the 23d ult. adviſe, that the Differences between the Courts of Peterſburgh and Copenhagen were adjuſted; and that Prince George of Holſtein was going, about New-year's Day, to reſide at Kiel, in Quality of Stadtholder of Ruſſian Holſtein.

Letters from Leipſic of the 20th ult. adviſe, that the Auſtrian General Laudohn lay at the point of death of a fever at Glatz.

Paris, Nov. 20. If, on the one hand, the Miniſtry are very ſeriouſly occupied in forming the baſis of a ſolid and laſting peace with England, they are no leſs concerned, on the other hand, about the war that is ſtill waged againſt their ally the Empreſs Queen by the King of Pruſſia; to which they would be glad to put an end, but know not how that is to be done, notwithſtanding the inclination which the houſe of Auſtria diſcovers at preſent towards it, from a ſenſe of the danger of having ſuch a formidable enemy, as his Pruſſian Majeſty, to contend with. Count Stahremberg, the Auſtrian Miniſter, has communicated to our Court the laſt offers made to his Sovereign by his Pruſſian Majeſty, which are allowed to be inadmiſſible by that Princeſs, in as much as he will give nothing towards indemnifying the King of Poland, who makes bitter complaints of the continued ravages of his electoral dominions. This Prince hath lately ſignified, that he was verry ſorry that he did not adjuſt his differences with the King of Pruſſia laſt year. The moſt Chriſtian King hath wrote him a conſolatory letter, ſignifying, the propoſals made to the Empreſs Queen were not far from being advantageous for that Princeſs, and ſtill leſs for his Poliſh Majeſty; and requeſting him to have a little patience, and meaſures ſhould be taken to indemnify him for his loſſes.

Hague, Dec. 3. The Empire appears to be greatly alarmed upon the march of ſeveral corps of Pruſſians into the heart of it. General Kleiſt has taken poſſeſſion of Bamberg; Nuremberg and Ratiſbon have ſhut their gates, and removed the military cheſt belonging to the army of the Circles, into Bavaria. The hoſtages, which were detained at Nuremberg, are ſent to Augſbourg.

A conſpiracy againſt the Empreſs has been diſcovered at Moſcow, in which ſome officers of the guards were concerned. The plot being diſcovered, the chief conſpirators were arreſted, and tried. The Senate condemned them to different kinds of capital puniſhments; but the Empreſs's clemency converted the ſentence of death into baniſhment.

Dec. 7. We hear from Berlin, that conventions for a ſuſpenſion of hoſtilities for the winter months, have been concluded, as uſual, between the Auſtrian and Pruſſian armies, both in Sileſia, and the Electorate of Saxony.

Francfort, Nov. 3. An order is received from Verſailles, to make the troops take the route to France in the ſpace of eight days.

Meiſſen, Nov. 22. We hear that the diſputes between his Pruſſian Majeſty, and the Court of Great-Britain, are amicably adjuſted; and there is little reaſon to doubt, but that a peace will be concluded this winter between his Pruſſian Majeſty and the Empreſs Queen, through the interpoſition of the Courts of Great-Britain and France.

Paris, Nov. 29. The Britiſh Miniſter is labouring inceſſantly with our Miniſtry upon the Definitive Treaty, which, it is hoped, will be completely finiſhed by the middle of January at fartheſt.

LONDON, November 30.

A letter from Coimbra, dated November 24. by the Liſbon mail, ſays, "The Spaniards are retiring gradually out of Portugal, though at preſent they know nothing of the peace. They have left 3000 of their ſick and wounded behind them at Caſtillonova, recommending them to the mercy of the Portugueſe."

They write from Leipſic, that the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, is negotiating a treaty of peace with the King of Pruſſia.

The Marquis de Marigny, a letter of marque, from Bourdeaux to St. Domingo, is taken by his Majeſty's ſhip Terpſichore, commanded by Capt. Ruthven, and is carried into Baſque-road. The prize mounted 24 nine pounders, and 148 men; and had nine men killed, and 18 wounded in the action.---Captain Ruthven was wounded in the arm by a muſket ball, but is likely to do well; five of his men were killed, and ſixteen wounded.---The firſt and ſecond Captains of the French ſhip loſt each of them an arm.---The Terpſichore mounts 22 ſix-pounders.

This being the birth-day of her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Dowager of WALES, who entered into the 44th year of her age, the morning was uſhered in with ringing of bells. At Noon his Majeſty received the compliments of the Nobility, &c. on the occaſion, at St. James's, as did her Royal Highneſs at Leiceſter-houſe; and the evening will conclude with a ball at St. James's.

It being alſo St. Andrew's day, the Tutelar Saint for Scotland, the ſame was obſerved at Court as a high feſtival, and the Knights Companions of the moſt noble Orders of the Garter, Thiſtle and Bath, appeared in the collars of their reſpective Orders. His Majeſty, and the reſt of the Royal Family, were croſſes in honour of the day.

It is ſaid his Pruſſian Majeſty has made Prince Henry Generaliſſimo of all his armies, and Governor of Sileſia.

We hear that a body of 12,000 land forces will be kept on foot in America, to conſiſt of 15 regiments of regulars, in the pay of Great-Britain, and 10 regiments of provincials, in the pay of the colonies.

It is alſo reported that 33 regiments of foot will be diſbanded, and only 72 kept on foot, and Col. Montgomery's, and Col. Fraſer's Highlanders, ſubſtituted in the room of the 3d and 4th battalions of the Royal American regiment; and that each company of the regiments kept ſtanding, will be reduced to 50 men, thoſe of the foot guards to 55; and the ſecond lieutenants put on half pay.

They have begun to diſcharge 16 men out of each company in the three regiments of foot guards, being the men inliſted to ſerve three years, or while the war continued.

We hear that the States of Holland have granted leave for our troops, that are returning from Germany, to march through their territories, and embark in Holland for England, which will very much ſhorten their way.

Dec. 2. According to letters from the Hague, of the 25th ult. it was ſaid that the Hereditary Prince of Brunſwick is to come to London in the month of February next, to marry a Princeſs of England.

They write from Vienna, that the Auſtrian General Brunian was brought there the fourteenth inſtant under a ſtrong eſcort, being accuſed of holding an illegal correſpondence for two years with ſome of the Pruſſian Generals; all the ill ſucceſs that has happened to the Auſtrians in that time is laid to his charge. It was General Haddick that detected him; and the Auſtrian Miniſtry have requeſted the Empreſs Queen to bring him to a ſpeedy trial by a Court Martial.

A letter from Cadiz ſays, "The inhabitants of Cuba would not take up arms, and act in concert with the garriſon, becauſe they were diſcontented. 1. On account of the Havannah Company, againſt which they had more than once made fruitleſs remonſtrances to the Court. 2. They did not like the new duty of five per cent. on ſugars. 3. They were exaſperated by a report current in the iſland, that they were to be ſubjected to the Million impoſt, which is the heavieſt tax in Spain."

Extract of a letter from Paris, Nov. 19.

"Councils are very frequent at Verſailles, whither the whole Royal Family is returned from Fontainbleau, and the Duke of Bedford continues to put the finiſhing hand to the ſo-much-wiſhed-for peace, and to render it general in Europe. The Count Stahremberg, Ambaſſador from the Court of Vienna, has alſo frequent conferences with the Duke de Choiſeul."

The Brune frigate brought into Gibraltar, the 9th of November, a French frigate of 36 guns, after an obſtinate engagement.

Dec. 4. Private letters from Holland adviſe, that the Empreſs Queen being informed that the King of Poland was on the point of making his peace with the King of Pruſſia, had ſignified to him, that notwithſtanding the diſadvantage which the army of the Empire had ſuffered on the 29th of October, ſhe had ordered as many regiments to be detached from Sileſia to Saxony as would be ſufficient to make head againſt the Pruſſians, and diſlodge Prince Henry from his advantageous poſts before the armies went into winter quarters; and that if ſhe continued the war, it would be rather to obtain an indemnification for Saxony, than to procure advantageous terms for herſelf.

By the ſame letters we learn, that the negotiation between the King of Pruſſia and the Duke of Mecklenbourg, is broke off; that a body of Pruſſians will be quartered in the Duke's territories during the winter, and contributions and recruits raiſed there for the Pruſſians as before.

We learn from Hamburgh, that the news of the preliminaries being ſigned was received in that city with great joy; as they hoped that, by the good offices of England, their differences with France would ſoon be accommodated. They continue to ſhip at Hamburgh great quantities of corn, and other proviſions, to be ſent up the Elbe for the uſe of the Pruſſian troops.

The Cygnet man of war, from New-York, is arrived at Portſmouth, with ſeveral merchant ſhips under her convoy.

The King of Pruſſia, Cromartie, and the Boſcawen, Jacobſon, both from Boſton, arrived in the Downs on Wedneſday; the King of Pruſſia ſailed with the laſt Weſt India fleet, but ſoon after ſpringing a leak, ſhe bore away for Boſton to repair her damages; and in her paſſage from thence ſhe fell in with a privateer of 18 guns, which, after an hour and a half ſharp engagement, ſhe obliged to ſheer off.

The Spaniſh privateer, being obliged to run from the King of Pruſſia, bore down upon the Boſcawen, and poured into her a broadſide, which Captain Cromartie ſeeing, run between the privateer and the Boſcawen, and began again to engage the privateer ſo warmly that ſhe made all the ſail ſhe could from them, and did not appear afterwards. The King of Pruſſia mounts only 14 guns, was deep laden, and had but between 20 and 30 men.

Extract of a letter from an Officer in Portugal, dated Nov. 2.

"The Count La Lippe has put our army into cantonments, as they were ſuffering greatly in camp, by the ſevere rains we have had lately, but in ſuch a manner that they will be able to aſſemble in a few hours. His Highneſs is at preſent on the Alentejo ſide, near Niſſa, watching the motions of the enemy, and does not intend ſtirring from thence till he is certain what their intentions are. It is ſcarcely poſſible for me to give you a proper idea of the unwearied pains the Count has taken, and the numberleſs difficulties he has had to ſtruggle with ever ſince he came into this country; I believe few men of his rank have bodily ſtrength ſufficient to go through the fatigue he has done. The perfect knowledge which by this he has obtained of the country, has enabled him, by dividing and ſhewing every where his little force, to impoſe on the enemy by appearances, and to baffle all their attempts; though, at the ſame time, had every regiment under his command been joined, they would ſcarcely together have been equal in number to the grenadiers, piquets, light troops, and brigade of guards, which generally formed the advanced corps of the Spaniſh army. When the impartial part of the world conſiders every circumſtance of the ſituation which the Count has been in, they will think that he has acquired more real honour by this campaign, than others have done by their moſt brilliant ſucceſſes."

Yeſterday the merchants trading to the conquered iſlands, met at the King's Arms Tavern in Cornhill; when they agreed to meet again next Monday, to draw up an humble addreſs to be preſented to his Majeſty, praying to be better ſecured in their property, before thoſe iſlands are evacuated by the Engliſh.

The brig that foundered, bound to New-York, is the Friendſhip, Wardell, laden with iron, and other goods.

It is reported that the number of ſeamen to be employed for the enſuing year, will be 30,000, which is more than double the number kept up the year after the peace was concluded.

We are informed that the Saxon troops which made a part of the French army, are to be put into the pay of the Empreſs Queen.

We learn from the Hague, that ſince the preliminaries were ſigned, the States have laid aſide the thoughts of augmenting their navy, and are now conſidering of ways and means to keep it on the Footing it was on before the war.

We hear there is a reconciliation between two of the firſt perſons in the kingdom.

Saturday morning laſt 150 of the artificers, &c. belonging to the Dock-yard at Chatham were diſcharged from the ſervice.

There has been a thorough diſcharge in the cooperage at Portſmouth. A diſcharge is likewiſe expected in the dock-yard next Monday.

When the laſt accounts came from Sileſia and Saxony, the troops on all ſides were preparing to go into winter-quarters.

It is rumoured that ten millions of money will be required for the ſervice of the enſuing year.

Dec. 7. The Lockart, Coates, from Glaſgow to Virginia, is taken by a Spaniſh frigate, and ranſomed for 300 l.

Workmen are employed at Somerſet-houſe, in fitting up, in an elegant manner, apartments in that palace, for the reception of his Serene Highneſs, Prince Ferdinand of Brunſwick, who is ſoon expected here from Germany.

Dec. 9. The King of Pruſſia has detached 25,000 men to Franconia, who have taken poſſeſſion of Bamberg; and it is ſaid, reduced Forcheim. The alarm has ſpread even to Nuremberg, from whence the Pruſſian hoſtages were ſent to Ratiſbon; but the Magiſtrates of this place refuſed to receive them. The Brandenburgh Miniſter at Ratiſbon ſays, the deſign of this expedition is to compel the States of the Empire to withdraw their troops from the army of the Circles.

Ziegenhayn, Marbourg, and Gieſſen began to be evacuated on the 28th paſt.

The French deſerters, who ſerved in the Britannic Legion, and other regiments of the Allied army, arrive in ſhoals at Hamburgh, with paſſports from Prince Ferdinand. From Hamburgh moſt of them go to Saxony, to enliſt among the Pruſſians, where they will be well received, as a ſpeedy accommodation between his Pruſſian Majeſty, and the Empreſs Queen, is not expected.

About 30 tranſports are to ſail in a few days to Williamſtadt in Holland, to bring over the Engliſh cavalry from Germany. All our troops are to return home by the way of Holland.

Extract of a letter from Paris, dated Nov. 25.

"The Count de Stahremberg, after having demanded of our Miniſters ſome eclairciſſements relative to the conditions of peace laid down in the preliminary articles, communicated to them the laſt propoſitions made to his Sovereign by the King of Pruſſia. They are ſuch as no Court can think her Imperial Majeſty might accept with any propriety or decorum. One point eſpecially, which ſuſpends all the effects of the pacific diſpoſition of the Empreſs Queen, is the obſtinate refuſal of the King of Pruſſia to agree to any indemnification for the havock and deſolation cauſed by his troops in the Electorate of Saxony."

Dec. 11. A letter from Paris ſays, "That the joy expreſſed by the merchants, tradeſmen, and all ranks of people in France, on the concluſion of the peace, is not to be expreſſed."

Extract of a Letter from Parma, Nov. 16.

"We are aſſured, that in the Definitive Treaty, preparing between France, Spain and England, there will be inſerted, in regard to the affairs of Italy, ſome articles tending to remove every cauſe or pretence for Troubles in this part of Europe."

We hear that a bill will be brought into Parliament, for the relief of ſailors and ſoldiers diſcharged this war.

We hear that ſeveral brokers have already received commiſſions to purchaſe ſhipping for the French ſervice.

There are near 100 men of war ordered to be laid up as ſoon as poſſible.

The bombs, fire-ſhips, and ſloops of war, that are deemed ſuperfluous and old, are all ordered up the Thames, to be ſold, with their ſtores and rigging.

A reduction is ordered among the marines, which is to begin with thoſe who enlifted only for three years, or during the continuance of the war.

It is ſuppoſed, and with great probability of truth, that not leſs than two millions ſterling of property is owing or engaged for in the conquered iſlands to the Britiſh Merchants. An object not unworthy the attention of a Britiſh Parliament.

We hear that ſeveral regiments of the militia are ordered to be diſembodied, and forthwith ſent home.

Admiralty-Office, Dec. 1. Captain Pigot, of his Majeſty's ſhip the Royal Willam, gives an account, in his letter of the 24th paſt, of his having, on the 12th, in the latitude of 46: 30 N. on a meridian with Cape Ortegal, given chace to, and taken, the Noſtra Seniora del Coroylas Anamas Guipuſcoa, a Spaniſh privateer of 16 guns, and 170 men, from St. Sebaſtians.

Captain Ourry, of his Majeſty's ſhip the Acteon, has alſo taken a Spaniſh privateer ſnow of 12 guns, and 70 men, from Bilboa, which ſhe met with the 21ſt paſt, to the weſtward of Scilly.

PHILADELPHIA, February 17.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in London to his Friend here, wrote before the Preliminary Articles of Peace were ſigned.

"The Conqueſt of the Havannah, and the Recovery of Newfoundland, at the ſame time that they have added to the Glory of our Arms, have nearly ſilenced the Clamours againſt the Miniſtry. We now wait with ſome Impatience to know how this Blow ſits upon the Stomachs of the haughty Dons. If they are fooliſh enough, from national Pride, ſtill to hold out, we cannot help it, we muſt proceed, though all Ranks are ſufficiently tired of this bloody and expenſive War. Nothing tranſpires yet in regard to the Negotiations for Peace; but I will venture to aſſure you (becauſe I have it from the very beſt Authority) that if a Peace takes Place, it will be a glorious One. The Parliament meets ſoon, when, it is ſuppoſed, there will be ſome Oppoſition to Lord Bute; I think it cannot be great, as there is really nothing to find Fault with. The German War, into which Mr. Pitt was obliged to lead us, to pleaſe the late King, is what, of all Things, the Miniſtry want to get rid of, the Expence of it being enormous, and the Operations bloody. We loſt as many Men in that trifling Affair of Amonebourg, as we did before the Havannah; it was, indeed, a downright Butchery, where many brave Men fell, to no glorious End.---The King of Portugal, if the Spaniards puſh on the War againſt him with Spirit, will, doubtleſs, ſoon be undone, and will, probably, be obliged to take Shelter here, till we ſettle Matters for him at a general Peace, which I ſuppoſe will be by our giving up the Havannah as a Compenſation for reinſtating him.---Thus our Alliance will do him moſt eſſential Service."

WILLIAM FRANKLIN, Eſq; Governor of New-Jerſey, and his Lady, are Paſſengers with Captain Budden, but the Winds having been contrary ever ſince the Ship got into the Road, they are not yet come to Town.

By a Gentleman from the Havannah, we have the melancholy Account of two Gentlemen (Meſſieurs Read and Boyd) belonging to this Town, being barbarouſly murdered there by four Spaniards, who, it was thought, had gone into their Store with Deſign to rob them, as they left ſome Bags behind, being diſturbed before they had committed the Robbery.---He alſo informs us, that Lord Albemarle was gone to England in the Rippon Man of War; that His Majeſty's Ship Pembroke likewiſe ſailed with him; and that a Prize was lately carried into the Havannah, on board which was the Governor of St. Jago de Cuba.

We hear that the Mars Privateer, Captain Wright, of New-York, has taken a rich Prize Ship, bound to Cape Francois from Old France, and that the Veſſel is arrived at Sandy-Hook.

ARRIVALS from this Port.

As our Advices by the laſt New-York and Boſton Papers are not material, we have left them out, in order to make Room for the more intereſting Articles from England.

 The PUBLICK are deſired to beware of Counterfeit THREE POUND New-Jerſey Bills, which, of late, have appeared among us------They are badly done on a Copper-plate, dated April 8, 1762, and are printed on three Folds of Paper, paſted together, the Letters in the whole Bill being very irregular, and ſtanding much out of Line; whereas the true Bills are neatly and regularly done in the common Printing Manner, and printed on two Folds of Paper. In the firſt Line of the Face of the Counterfeit, the O in POUNDS is ſhorter and thicker than the other Letters in that Word; and in the third Line the laſt E in JERSEY, is not like a Printing E, but is made in the Manner commonly uſed in Writing. In ſhort, the whole is ſo ill executed, that we think, after this Notice, no Body can be impoſed on by them.

The Public are alſo deſired to beware of Counterfeit THIRTY SHILLING Bills of the ſame Money, as lately adverti-ſed in this Paper.

"Last Week departed this Life Mr. EVAN MORGAN, of this City, in the 54th Year of his Age; and, agreeable to his Requeſt, on Sunday was decently, but not expenſively, interred, on the South-Weſt Corner of Chriſt's Church. From his Youth to his Death, he maintained the Character of a virtuous, ſober, ſenſible good Man. He had the Honour to be called, by his Country, to ſerve them ſeveral Years as a Repreſentative in Legiſlation, and many Years a Truſtee and Manager of that moſt humane and benevolent Inſtitution, the Pennſylvania Hoſpital, erected for the Reception and Cure of Lunaticks, and other diſeaſed Perſons, in this Province. In the firſt Station he continued until his private Affairs demanded his Reſignation; but in the laſt, he laboured affectionately for its Promotion and Advancement, to the End of his Days. In every Character, whether public or private, he diſcharged his Truſt and Duty with a Zeal and Steadineſs becoming a good Man. His Friendſhips were few, formed on great Deliberation; then very ſincere. In private Life he was dear to all around him. His Family now mourn the Loſs of a moſt affectionate tender Parent, and kind Maſter; and the Country, a worthy Member of Society, good Citizen, and faithful Friend. His Virtues engaged to him the Love and Eſteem of all who knew him, and his Loſs is greatly lamented."

their Sovereigns give them the order and example: And, for the execution of this article, ſea paſſes ſhall be given, on each ſide, for the ſhips which ſhall be diſpatched to carry the news of it to the reſpective poſſeſſions of the three powers.

II. His moſt Chriſtian Majeſty renounces all pretenſions, which he has heretofore formed, or might have formed, to Nova Scotia, or Acadia, in all its parts, and guarantees the whole of it, with all its dependencies, to the King of Great Britain; moreover, his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty cedes, and gaurantees, to his ſaid Britannic Majeſty, in full right, Canada, with all its dependencies, as well as the iſland of Cape Breton, and all the other iſlands in the Gulph and River St. Laurence, without reſtriction, and without any liberty to depart from this ceſſion and guaranty, under any pretence, or to trouble Great Britain in the poſſeſſion abovementioned. His Britannic Majeſty, on his ſide, agrees to grant to the inhabitants of Canada the liberty of the Catholic religion; he will, in conſequence, give the moſt exact and the moſt effectual orders, that his Roman Catholic ſubjects may profeſs the worſhip of their religion, according to the rites of the Roman church, as far as the laws of Great Britain permit. His Britannic Majeſty further agrees, that the French inhabitants, or others who would have been ſubjects of the moſt Chriſtian King in Canada, may retire, in all ſafety and freedom, wherever they pleaſe; and may ſell their eſtates, provided it be to his Britannic Majeſty's ſubjects, and tranſport their effects, as well as their perſons, without being reſtrained in their emigration, under any pretence whatſoever, except debts or criminal proſecutions: The term limited for this emigration, being fixed to the ſpace of eighteen months, to be computed from the day of the ratification of the Definitive Treaty.

III. The ſubjects of France ſhall have the liberty of fiſhing and drying, on a part of the coaſts of the iſland of Newfoundland, ſuch as it is ſpecified in the XIIIth article of the treaty of Utrecht, which article ſhall be confirmed and renewed by the approaching Definitive Treaty (except what regards the iſland of Cape Breton, as well as the other iſlands in the mouth and in the gulph of St. Laurence) And his Britannic Majeſty conſents to leave to the moſt Chriſtian King's ſubjects the liberty to fiſh in the Gulph of St. Laurence, on condition that the ſubjects of France do not exerciſe the ſaid fiſhery but at the diſtance of three leagues from all the coaſts belonging to Great Britain, as well thoſe of the continent, as thoſe of the iſlands ſituated in the ſaid Gulph of St. Laurence. And as to what relates to the fiſhery out of the ſaid Gulph, his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty's ſubjects ſhall not exerciſe the fiſhery but at the diſtance of fifteen leagues from the coaſts of the iſland of Cape Breton.

IV. The King of Great Britain cedes the iſlands of St. Peter and of Miquelon, in full right, to his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, to ſerve as a ſhelter for the French fiſhermen; and his ſaid Majeſty obliges himſelf, on his Royal Word, not to fortify the ſaid iſlands; to erect no buildings there but merely for the conveniency of the fiſhery; and to keep there only a guard of fifty men for the police.

V. The town and port of Dunkirk ſhall be put into the ſtate fixed by the laſt treaty of Aix la Chapelle, and by former treaties; the Cunette ſhall remain as it now is, provided that the Engliſh Engineers, named by his Britannic Majeſty, and received at Dunkirk by order of his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, verify that this Cunette is only of uſe for the wholeſomeneſs of the air, and the health of the inhabitants.

VI. In order to re-eſtabliſh peace, on the moſt ſolid and laſting foundations, and to remove for ever, every ſubject of diſpute with regard to the limits of the Britiſh and French territories on the continent of America; it is agreed, that, for the future, the confines between the dominions of his Britannic Majeſty, and thoſe of his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, in that part of the world, ſhall be irrevocably fixed by a line drawn along the Miſſiſippi, from its ſource, as far as the river Iberville, and from thence, by a line drawn along the middle of this river, and of the lakes Maurepas and Pontchartrain, to the ſea; and to this purpoſe the moſt Chriſtian King cedes in full right, and guarantees to his Britannic Majeſty, the river and port of Mobile, and every thing that he poſſeſſes, or ought to have poſſeſſed, on the left ſide of the river Miſſiſippi, except the town of New Orleans, and the iſland in which it is ſituated, which ſhall remain to France; provided that the navigation of the river Miſſiſippi ſhall be equally free, as well to the ſubjects of Great-Britain as to thoſe of France, in its whole breadth and length, from its ſource to the ſea, and that part expreſly, which is between the ſaid iſland of New Orleans, and the right bank of that river, as well as the paſſage both in and out of its mouth; it is further ſtipulated, that the veſſels belonging to the ſubjects of either nation, ſhall not be ſtopped, viſited, or ſubjected to the payment of any duty whatſoever. The ſtipulations in favour of the inhabitants of Canada, inſerted in the ſecond Article, ſhall alſo take place, with regard to the inhabitants of the countries ceded by this article.

VII. The King of Great-Britain ſhall reſtore to France the iſlands of Guadaloupe, of Marigalante, of Deſirade, of Martinico, and of Belleiſle; and the fortreſſes of theſe iſlands ſhall be reſtored in the ſame condition they were in, when they were conquered by the Britiſh arms; provided that the term of eighteen months, computed from the day of the ratification of the Definitive Treaty, ſhall be granted to his Britannic Majeſty's ſubjects, who may have ſettled in the ſaid iſlands, and other places reſtored to France by the Definitive Treaty, to ſell their eſtates, recover their debts, and tranſport their effects, as well as their perſons, without being reſtrained on account of their religion, or under any other pretence whatſoever, except that of debts, or criminal proſecutions.

VIII. The moſt Chriſtian King cedes and guarantees to his Britannic Majeſty, in full right, the iſlands of Grenada, and the Grenadines, with the ſame ſtipulations in favour of the inhabitants of this colony, as are inſerted in the IId Article for thoſe of Canada; and the partition of the iſlands called Neutral, is agreed and fixed, ſo that thoſe of St. Vincent, Dominico, and Tobago, ſhall remain in full right to England; and that of St. Lucia ſhall be delivered to France, to enjoy the ſame in like manner in full right; the two crowns reciprocally guarantying to each other the participation ſo ſtipulated.

IX. His Britannic Majeſty ſhall reſtore to France the iſland of Goree, in the condition it was in when conquered: and his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty cedes in full right, and guarantees to the King of Great Britain, Senegal.

X. In the Eaſt Indies, Great Britain ſhall reſtore to France the ſeveral Comptoirs, which that crown had on the coaſt of Coromandel, as well as on that of Malabar, and alſo in Bengal, at the commencement of hoſtilities between the two companies in the year 1749, in the condition in which they now are, on condition that his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty renounces the acquiſitions which he has made on the coaſt of Coromandel, ſince the ſaid commencement of hoſtilities between the two companies in the year 1749.

His moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, on his ſide, ſhall reſtore, all that he ſhall have conquered from Great-Britain, in the Eaſt-Indies, during the preſent war; and he alſo engages not to erect any fortifications, or to keep any troops in Bengal.

XI. The iſland of Minorca ſhall be reſtored to his Britannic Majeſty, as well as Fort St. Philip, in the ſame condition they were in when they were conquered by the arms of the moſt Chriſtian King; and with the artillery that was there at the taking of the ſaid iſland, and of the ſaid fort.

XII. France ſhall reſtore all the countries belonging to the Electorate of Hanover, to the Landgrave of Heſſe, to the Duke of Brunſwick, and to the Count of La Lippe Buckebourg, which are, or ſhall be occupied by the arms of his moſt Chriſtion Majeſty; the fortreſſes of theſe different countries ſhall be reſtored in the ſame condition they were in, when they were conquered by the French arms; and the pieces of artillery, which ſhall have been carried elſewhere, ſhall be replaced by the ſame number, of the ſame bore, weight and metal; as to what regards hoſtages exacted or given, during the war, to this day, they ſhall be ſent back without ranſom.

XIII. After the ratification of the Preliminaries, France ſhall evacuate, as ſoon as it can be done, the fortreſſes of Cleves, Weſel, and Guelders, and, in general all the countries belonging to the King of Pruſſia; and, at the ſame time, the Britiſh and French armies ſhall evacuate all the countries which they occupy, or may then occupy in Weſtphalia, Lower Saxony, on the Lower Rhine, the Upper Rhine, and in all the Empire; and each ſhall retire into the Dominions of their reſpective Sovereigns: And their Britannic and moſt Chriſtian Majeſties further engage and promiſe, not to furniſh any ſuccour of any kind, to their reſpective allies, who ſhall continue engaged in the preſent war in Germany.

XIV. The towns of Oſtend and Nieuport ſhall be evacuated by his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty's troops, immediately after the ſignature of the preſent Preliminaries.

XV. The deciſion of the prizes made on the Spaniards by the ſubjects of Great-Britain in time of peace, ſhall be referred to the courts of juſtice of the admiralty of Great-Britain, conformably to the rules eſtabliſhed among all Nations, ſo that the validity of the ſaid prizes, between the Britiſh and Spaniſh nations, ſhall be decided and judged according to the law of Nations, and according to treaties, in the courts of juſtice of the nation who ſhall have made the capture.

XVI. His Britannic Majeſty ſhall cauſe all the fortifications to be demoliſhed, which his ſubjects ſhall have erected in the Bay of Honduras, and other places of the territory of Spain in that part of the world, four months after the ratification of the Definitive Treaty: And his Catholic Majeſty ſhall not for the future ſuffer the ſubjects of his Britannic Majeſty, or their workmen, to be diſturbed or moleſted under any pretence whatſoever, in their occupation of cutting, loading and carrying away logwood; and for this purpoſe they may build, without hindrance, and occupy without interruption, the houſes and magazines neceſſary for them, for their families, and for their effects; and his ſaid Catholic Majeſty aſſures to them, by this article, the entire enjoyment of what is above ſtipulated.

XVII. His Catholic Majeſty deſiſts from all pretenſions which he may have formed to the right of fiſhing about the iſland of Newfoundland.

XVIII. The King of Great Britain ſhall reſtore to Spain all that he has conquered in the iſland of Cuba, with the fortreſs of the Havannah; and that fortreſs, as well as all the other fortreſſes of the ſaid iſland, ſhall be reſtored in the ſame condition they were in when they were conquered by his Britannic Majeſty's arms.

XIX. In conſequence of the reſtitution ſtipulated in the preceeding article, his Catholic Majeſty cedes and guarantees, in full right, to his Britannic Majeſty, all that Spain poſſeſſes on the continent of North America, to the eaſt, or to the ſouth eaſt, of the river Miſſiſippi. And his Britannic Majeſty agrees to grant to the inhabitants of this country, above ceded, the liberty of the Catholic religion: He will, in conſequence, give the moſt exact and the moſt effectual orders, that his new Roman Catholic ſubjects may profeſs the worſhip of their religion according to the rites of the Roman church, as far as the laws of Great Britain permit. His Britannic Majeſty further agrees, that the Spaniſh inhabitants, or others who would have been ſubject to the Catholic King in the ſaid countries, may retire, in all ſafety and freedom, wherever they pleaſe; and may ſell their eſtates, provided it be to his Britannic Majeſty's ſubjects, and tranſport their effects, as well as their perſons, without being reſtrained in their emigration, under any pretence whatſoever, except debts, or criminal proſecutions: The term, limited for this emigration, being fixed to the ſpace of eighteen months, to be computed from the day of the ratification of the Definitive Treaty. It is further ſtipulated, that his Catholic Majeſty ſhall have power to cauſe all the effects, that belong to him, either artillery, or others, to be carried away.

XX. The King of Portugal, his Britannic Majeſty's ally, is expreſly included in the preſent preliminary articles. And their moſt Chriſtian and Catholic Majeſties engage to re-eſtabliſh the antient peace and friendſhip between them and his moſt Faithful Majeſty: And they promiſe, 1ſt, That there ſhall be a total ceſſation of hoſtilities between the crowns of Spain and Portugal, and between the Spaniſh and French troops, on the one ſide, and the Portugueſe troops, and thoſe of their allies, on the other, immediately after the ratification of theſe preliminaries: And that there ſhall be a like ceſſation of hoſtilities between the reſpective forces of the moſt Chriſtian and Catholic Kings, on the one part, and thoſe of the moſt Faithful King, on the other, in all other parts of the world, as well by ſea as by land; which ceſſation ſhall be fixed on the ſame epochs, and under the ſame conditions, as that between Great-Britain, France and Spain, and ſhall continue till the concluſion of the Definitive Treaty between Great-Britain, France, Spain and Portugal.

2d, That all his moſt Faithful Majeſty's fortreſſes, and countries, in Europe, which ſhall have been conquered by the Spaniſh and French armies, ſhall be reſtored in the ſame condition they were in when they were conquered; and that, with regard to the Portugueſe colonies in America, or elſewhere, if any change ſhall have happened in them, all things ſhall be put again on the ſame footing they were before the preſent war. And the moſt Faithful King ſhall be invited to accede to the preſent preliminary articles as ſoon as ſhall be poſſible.

XXI. All the countries and territores which may have been conquered, in any part of the world whatſoever, by the arms of their Britannic and moſt Faithful Majeſties, as well as by thoſe of their moſt Chriſtian and Catholic Majeſties, which are not included in the preſent Articles, either under the title of ceſſions, or under the title of reſtitutions, ſhall be reſtored without difficulty, and without requiring compenſations.

XXII. As it is neceſſary to aſſign a fixed epoch for the reſtitutions, and the evacuations to be made by each of the high contracting parties, it is agreed, that the Britiſh and French troops ſhall proceed, immediately after the ratification of the Preliminaries, to the evacuation of the countries which they occupy in the Empire, or elſewhere, conformably to the twelfth and thirteenth Articles.

The iſland of Belleiſle ſhall be evacuated ſix weeks after the ratification of the Definitive Treaty, or ſooner if it can be done.

Guadaloupe, Deſirade, Marigalante, Martinico, and St. Lucia, three Months after the ratification of the Definitive Treaty, or ſooner if it can be done.

Great-Britain ſhall likewiſe, at the end of three months after the ratification of the Definitive Treaty, or ſooner if it can be done, enter into poſſeſſion of the river and of the port of Mobile, and of all that is to form the limits of the territory of Great-Britain, on the ſide of the river Miſſiſippi, as they are ſpecified in the ſixth Article.

The iſland of Goree ſhall be evacuated by Great-Britain, three months after the ratification of the Definitive Treaty; and the iſland of Minorca with France, at the ſame epoch, or ſooner, if it can be done. And, according to the conditions of the fourth article, France ſhall alſo enter into poſſeſſion of the iſlands of St. Peter and of Miquelon, at the end of three months.

The Comptoirs, in the Eaſt-Indies, ſhall be reſtored ſix months after the ratification of the Definitive Treaty, or ſooner, if it can be done.

The iſland of Cuba, with the fortreſs of the Havannah, ſhall be reſtored three months after the ratification of the Definitive Treaty, or ſooner, if it can be done: And, at the ſame time, Great-Britain ſhall enter into poſſeſſion of the country ceded by Spain, according to the nineteenth Article.

All the fortreſſes and countries of his moſt Faithful Majeſty, in Europe, ſhall be reſtored immediately after the ratification of the Definitive Treaty: And the Portugueſe colonies, which may have been conquered, ſhall be reſtored in the ſpace of three months, in the Weſt-Indies, and of ſix months in the Eaſt-Indies, after the ratification of the Definitive Treaty, or ſooner, if it can be done.

In conſequence whereof, the neceſſary orders ſhall be ſent by each of the high contracting parties, with reciprocal paſſports for the ſhips which ſhall carry them, immediately after the ratification of the Definitive Treaty.

XXIII. All the treaties, of what nature ſoever, which exiſted before the preſent war, as well between their Britannic and moſt Chriſtian Majeſties, as between their Britannic and Catholic Majeſties, as alſo between any of the above-named powers and his moſt Faithful Majeſty, ſhall be, as they are in effect, renewed and confirmed, in all their points, which are not derogated from by the preſent Preliminary Articles, notwithſtanding whatever may have been ſtipulated to the contrary by any of the high contracting parties: And all the ſaid parties declare, that they will not ſuffer any privilege, favour, or indulgence, to ſubſiſt, contrary to the treaties above confirmed.

XXIV. The priſoners made reſpectively by the arms of their Britannic, moſt Chriſtian, Catholic, and moſt Faithful Majeſties, by land and by ſea, ſhall be reſtored reciprocally, and bona Fide, after the ratification of the definitive treaty, without ranſom, paying the debts they ſhall have contracted during their captivity. And each crown ſhall reſpectively pay the advances which ſhall have been made for the ſubſiſtance and maintenance of their priſoners, by the Sovereign of the country where they ſhall have been detained, according to the receipts and atteſted accounts, and other authentic titles which ſhall be furniſhed on each ſide.

XXV. In order to prevent all cauſes of complaints, and diſputes, which may ariſe, on account of ſhips, merchandizes, and other effects, which may be taken by ſea, it is reciprocally agreed, that the ſhips, merchandizes, and effects, which may be taken in the Channel, and in the North Seas, after the ſpace of twelve days, to be computed from the ratification of the Preliminary Articles, ſhall be reciprocally reſtored on each ſide.

That the term ſhall be ſix weeks for the prizes taken, from the Channel, the Britiſh Seas, and the North Seas, as far as the Canary Iſlands incluſively, either in the Ocean, or in the Mediterranean.

Three months, from the ſaid Canary Iſlands as far as the Equinoctial Line, or Equator.

Laſtly, ſix months, beyond the ſaid Equinoctial Line, or Equator, and in all other parts of the world, without any exception, or other more particular deſcription of time and place.

XXVI. The Ratifications of the preſent Preliminary Articles ſhall be expedited in good and in due form, and exchanged in the ſpace of one month, or ſooner, if it can be done, to be computed from the day of the ſignature of the preſent articles.

In witneſs whereof, we the under-written Miniſters Plenipotentiary of his Britannic Majeſty, of his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, and of his Catholic Majeſty, in virtue of our reſpective full powers, have ſigned the preſent Preliminary Articles, and have cauſed the ſeal of our arms to be put thereto.

Done at Fontainbleau, the Third Day of November, 1762.

Declaration, ſigned at Fontainbleau, the 3d of November, 1762, by the French Plenipotentiary, relating to the XIIIth Article of the Preliminaries.

HIS moſt Chriſtian Majeſty declares, that, in agreeing to the XIIIth Article of the Preliminaries, ſigned this day, he does not mean to renounce the right of acquitting his debts to his allies; and that the remittances, which may be made on his part, in order to acquit the arrears that may be due on the ſubſidies of preceding years, are not to be conſidered as an infraction of the ſaid article.

In witneſs whereof, I, the under-written Miniſter Plenipotentiary of his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, have ſigned the preſent declaration, and have cauſed the ſeal of my arms to be put thereto.

Done at Fontainbleau, the Third Day of November, 1762.

(L. S.) CHOISEUL, Duc de Praslin.

LONDON, December 11.

Yeſterday there were very full Houſes of both Lords and Commons, to conſider of the Preliminary Articles of Peace agreed to between Great-Britain, France and Spain; when ſeveral eloquent Speeches were made on the Occaſion.

The Houſe of Peers ſat on Thurſday Night till after Ten o' Clock, and the Houſe of Commons till near Twelve.

Yeſterday the Right Hon. the Houſe of Peers waited on His Majeſty with their congratulatory Addreſs, on his agreeing to the Preliminaries of Peace; and received a moſt gracious Anſwer.

And this Day the Hon. Houſe of Commons waits on His Majeſty at St. James's, with their Addreſs on the ſame Occaſion.

The Majority, with regard to the important Queſtion, in a certain auguſt Aſſembly, on Thurſday, was 319 to 65; and on a Diviſion Yeſterday, 230 to 63.

MOSCOW, October 25.

THE Earl of Buckinghamſhire, His Britannick Majeſty's Ambaſſador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to this Court, had Yeſterday his firſt Audience of her Imperial Majeſty.

Berlin, Nov. 19. Nothing has happened in Sileſia, nor Saxony, where the Troops are preparing to enter into Winter Quarters. His Pruſſian Majeſty ſtill continues at Meiſſen. His Royal Highneſs Prince Henry is at Freyberg.

Hague, Nov. 26. Our laſt Letters from Portugal are of the 6th. The Spaniſh and French Armies had paſſed the Tagus that Day, to take their Quarters of Cantonment in the Province of Alentejo.

Conſtantinople, Oct. 16. There has been a dangerous Sedition at Belgrade. The Baſhaw, or Governor of the Town, a very juſt and ſenſible Man, ſeeing the People daily ſtript of their Money, under the moſt frivolous Pretences, by the ſordid Greedineſs of ſome Janiſſaries (who carried their vexatious Tyranny to ſuch a Pitch, as almoſt intirely to eradicate the Commerce of Servia) took the moſt ſage Meaſures to put a Stop to their Roguery. Some Janiſſaries, getting Scent of his Deſign, immediately ſounded the Tocſin, formed themſelves in a Body, drew their Scimitars, and vowed Deſtruction on the Baſhaw. They put in March with great Fury, followed by an immenſe Populace, towards the Palace of the reſpectable Governor; but that upright Man had foreſeen all. Other Janiſſaries, in greater Number than the preceding, influenced either by Love, Duty, or Rewards, defeated the factious Party, of whom a Part has been ſtrangled, and the reſt caſt into Priſon, &c. This Conduct of the Baſhaw has been ſo agreeable to the Sultan, that he has ſent him a Preſent of a ſuperb Mantle. The Ravages of the Plague are not yet ceaſed, either here or at Smyrna.

Paris, Nov. 20. Many People here offer to lay Wagers, that the Definitive Treaty will be concluded before the firſt Day of the new Year; while others allow a good Part of the Month of January to the Negotiators, to put the laſt Hand to this great Work.

The Public highly applaud the Zeal of our Miniſtry in encouraging the good Servants of the King, the true Children of the Country, and puniſhing his Traitors or Poltroons, who have DANTZICK, October 20.

THE Court of Berlin is treating with the Ruſſian General Commorow for the magazines of grain which are in Poliſh Pruſſia, and which he has received orders to diſpoſe of. Several inhabitants of Poland ſollicit to have the produce of this ſale appropriated to the diſcharge of the debts due to them for deliveries made to the Ruſſian army, which the Court of Peterſburgh gave them room to hope for; but we know not yet whether their demand will be complied with, nor to how much this produce will amount.

Berlin, Nov. 19. M. de Soltikow, miniſter plenipotentiary from the Empreſs of Ruſſia to the court of France, ſet out from hence laſt Thurſday; and Mr. Keith, his Majeſty's late miniſter to the court of Peterſburgh, is juſt arrived here in his way to England.

Magdebourg, Nov. 18. The King, ſince his arrival in Saxony, hath gone to view the field of battle of the 29th paſt. His Majeſty, to expreſs his grateful ſenſe of Prince Henry's ſervices, hath made him a preſent of an eſtate of 40,000 crowns a year (with reverſion thereof to his Princeſs) which fell to his Majeſty by the death of the Margrave Charles. All the officers who have diſtinguiſhed themſelves in the affair of the 29th, have received recompences.

LONDON, November 30.

Extract of a letter from his Majeſty's ſhip Fame, in Baſque Road, November 5, 1762.

"A Lieutenant of the Fame, and ſome others, under command of Lieutenant Thompſon, of the Bellona, have attacked two veſſels in the ſhip's boats under the caſtle of Chatailon, and notwithſtanding both grounded, brought one off in the face of the enemy, not muſket-ſhot from the ſhore. Greater bravery could not be ſhewn on our part, nor more puſillanimity on their's. Was it not for a ſkirmiſh of this kind ſometimes, in this exile, we ſhould almoſt forget we bore arms; ſubalterns are rarely attended to, but you may believe me, Sir, when I aſſure you this ſquadron might be employed with more honour, and ſervice to England, than confining nine French unſerviceable wrecks."

Dec. 4. An action is brought againſt a Rev. Divine, and the two Church Wardens of a pariſh, for ſpending the greateſt part of the money they had collected for a brief.

We are informed the King of Portugal has wrote a letter to his Majeſty, couched in the moſt polite and moſt thankful terms, for the ſecurity derived to his Kingdom, from the generoſity and magnanimity of the Britiſh nation.

The news of the advantage gained by the Pruſſian General Nieuweid, in taking 600 priſoners, and four pieces of cannon, is confirmed by yeſterday's mail.

The whole ſtores taken in Caſſel, may be reckoned worth upwards of a million of German crowns.

By the ſudden diſcharge of great numbers of ſhipwrights, and other handicrafts, at the end of the laſt war, who were thus, many of them, greatly diſtreſſed, the French and Spaniſh agents engaged many of them, and theſe the beſt they could pick out, to go over to thoſe countries, by which means they were enabled to build the fleets with which they threatened us at the beginning of the war.---If the ſame method ſhould be purſued now, there is no doubt they will play over the ſame trick again; but if a few thouſand pounds were given in ſmall penſions to ſuch as are diſcharged, till they could fix properly in buſineſs in private yards, &c. it would probably keep them at home, and the money would not be thrown away.

All our accounts from Paris agree, that the campaign is quite at an end in Portugal; and that the Spaniards and French were retreating, half-naked, and half-ſtarved, into their own country.

A great number of merchants, who had returned home on the breaking out of the Spaniſh war, are preparing to ſet out for Cadiz, and other ports in Spain, &c.

By a gentleman arrived from Paris on Thurſday evening we are informed, that when the preliminaries were brought to his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty to be ratified, he was juſt returned from hunting, but that he ſigned them immediately, before he ſat down to dinner, or even as much as pulled off his boots.-----Couriers were then inſtantly diſpatched to all parts, and it is impoſſible, ſays the gentleman, to expreſs the joy that appears there, amongſt all ranks and degrees of people.

There are ſeveral letters in town from perſons of credit, which give moſt dreadful accounts of the ſituation of the Dutch affairs in the iſland of Ceylon; where they are likely to be driven from. It ſeems they had uſed the ſon of the King very ill, who thereupon aſſembled his people in the centre of the iſland, and ſwore them all in the moſt ſolemn manner, to take revenge of the Dutch, or die; and accordingly they attacked the capital fortreſs, took it by ſtorm, and put all to the ſword; and ſo they did at a ſecond; a third capitulated; but as ſoon as they laid down their arms, they ſeized the garriſon, tied them back to back, and cut off their heads in that manner; in ſhort, they are determined to extirpate the Dutch, and have invited our people to come and ſettle; but how far we ſhall comply with their requeſt is yet unknown.

Sixty of the officers who were at Pondicherry have tranſmitted to M. Bertin, Comptroller General of the finances, a memorial, containing nine articles of impeachment againſt General Lally, late Governor of that place: The firſt turns upon his bad adminiſtration, and is cognizable by the King's council; the ſecond regards military matters, and will be referred to the judgment of the Marſhals of France; and all the reſt are to be enquired into by Commiſſaries, whom the King will appoint for the purpoſe.

Yeſterday, at a meeting of merchants trading to Africa, it was reſolved, that the following gentlemen be appointed a committee, for drawing up a memorial to the Lords of Trade, againſt Mr. Touchet's petition to his Majeſty, for an excluſive trade to the River Senegal, viz. Mr. Alderman Turner, John Largent, Anthony Bacon, John Ewer, James Johnſon, William Tennant, John Mill, Gilbert Francklyn, Samuel Vaughan, William Bowden, George Farquhar Kinloch, and Beeſton Long, Eſquires.

We are informed, that the Saxon troops, which made a part of the French army, are to be put into the pay of the Empreſs Queen.

The ſoldiers who were made priſoners in going from North-America to the Havannah, and carried to France, are arrived at Portſmouth in Tranſports.

Yeſterday morning arrived a mail from Liſbon, and with it a packet from Count La Lippe, and the other general officers; and we are aſſured, that the Spaniards are intirely withdrawn out of Portugal; and that there was nothing but joy in the faces of all the Portugueſe, and a general ſenſe of gratitude, expreſſed by the thinking part of the nation, for his Britannic Majeſty's kind interpoſition in their favour. It is from this conſideration we hope the trade with that kingdom will be much more in our favour than it has been for ſeveral years paſt.

Dec. 7. They write from Madrid of the 9th of laſt month, that ſome perſons pretend to know, that his Catholick Majeſty ſtrongly inſiſts on being indemnified for part of the charges he has been put to by the Portugal war, and that the produce of ſuch indemnification will be employed in redeeming the men of war taken at the Havannah.

According to the laſt advices from Corſica, the animoſity of the malecontents is carried to the higheſt pitch againſt the Genoeſe, which has been occaſioned by the perfidious practices of ſome of the latter. Paoli was making ſtrict ſearch after thoſe that were concerned in delivering up Paduella and Coſcia to the troops of the Republic, and had aſſembled a council at Corti, to ſit on the trial of 40 Genoeſe who have fallen into his hands. By order of the ſaid Paoli, no more than one bell is to be left in each church, and all the reſt are to be converted into cannon and mortars. It is ſaid he has diſcovered at Moratto, in the province of Nebblo, a copper and ſilver mine, which may turn to good account. He has formed two new regiments of 500 men each, into which he has incorporated the flower of his veterans. In ſhort, they add, that there is no probability of the Republic's being able to reduce the Corſicans, unleſs ſhe hires ſome foreign troops for that purpoſe.

The laſt letters from Germany adviſe, that 12 battalions and 12 ſquadrons of the allied army will be quartered during the winter in the country of Erchsfeldt, where they will pay for every thing they have.

Dec. 8. On Monday the Royal Union, Smith, cleared out for Dieppe, in France, being the firſt ſhip for that port ſince the ſigning of the preliminaries.

Private letters from Paris adviſe, that a moſt ſincere and general joy has been ſpread through the nation, not by the peace only, which renders new taxes unneceſſary, but by a report that the King has taken a reſolution to aboliſh the farms of the revenue; and to have all taxes collected by his own officers, as in England; which, beſides other great advantages, will reduce the price of ſalt, tobacco, the duties of exports and imports, and, in general, all kinds of liquors, goods and proviſions, one fourth part.

The Spaniſh Ambaſſador, we are informed, moſt ſtrenuouſly endeavoured, in the negotiations, to obtain the ſhips taken at the Havannah, at any price, or by ceding to us any advantages in their colonies or ſettlements, which we could reaſonably aſk, but all was rejected.

They write from Paris, that beſides the twelve officers who were lately executed, there are three more who will ſoon undergo the ſame fate, for delivering up Canada to the Engliſh.

Dec. 9. Yeſterday the Merchants trading to the conquered iſlands, carried up their petition to the Secretary of State's Office, in order to be laid before his Majeſty's Council; praying that they may have a farther time to get in their effects, and ſettle their affairs, than what is allowed them by the Preliminary Articles, before thoſe iſlands are reſtored.

Yeſterday the Right Hon. Charles Townſhend, Eſq; reſigned his place as Secretary at War; as did alſo John Offley, Eſq; that of one of the Grooms of his Majeſty's Bedchamber.

We hear that his Royal Highneſs the Duke of York and Sir Charles Hardy are gone to cruize off the Canary Iſlands, and will ſtay there to the utmoſt time the preliminary articles will allow; as there are ſome rich ſhips ſtill expected home belonging to the French and Spaniards.

On Tueſday they began to deliver out at the Secretary of State's Office, paſſports, ſigned by the French King, for our ſhips to go ſafe to any port in France. The paſſports from Spain are not yet arrived.

The laſt letters from Ruſſia mention, that a great diſturbance had happened there, but was ſuppreſſed; the particulars are not known.

They write from Prague of the 20th of November, that an order has been iſſued to impreſs all the young men in the Hereditary dominions of the Empreſs-Queen, and to ſend them away directly in waggons to join the Auſtrian army.

Plymouth, Dec. 3. A number of unſerviceable marines have got their diſcharge, and received 21 days pay, to carry them to their reſpective homes.

Liverpool, Dec. 3. On Tueſday laſt three ſeamen were taken up, and committed by the juſtices of the peace, and ordered to be carried to Lancaſter Caſtle, to take their trials at the enſuing aſſizes, for attempting to raiſe a riot. They were at the head of a mob beating a drum round the docks, and proclaimed, "That "no Engliſh ſeamen muſt engage in any veſſel under forty ſhil-"lings wages per month; and if foreigners preſumed to ſhip "themſelves for leſs money, they ſhould not be ſuffered to leave "the town alive." Several conſiderable merchants meeting with the mob, reaſoned with them, and pointed out the riſk they ran by ſuch unlawful riots, in open violation of the laws, &c. The ſeamen gave for anſwer, They might as well be hang'd as ſtarv'd by the terms of the peace. The three ſeamen made their eſcape at Magull, near Ormſkirk, as they were on the road to Lancaſter, occaſioned by a concourſe of people aſſembled at Magull wake, beating a bull, &c. whom the ſeamen influenced to ſurround the Gaoler and his aſſiſtants, while they tumbled off their horſes, though handcuffed, and ran away. A conſiderable reward is offered for the taking of the three ſeamen, or any others concerned; and the magiſtrates and merchants are determined to ſuppreſs all ſuch-like riots.

CHARLES-TOWN, in South-Carolina, January 1.

Captain Haig is juſt arrived here from Jamaica, who left Port-Royal, in that iſland, the 22d of November, in company of about 40 ſail of merchantmen (20 of them bound for Europe) under convoy of his Majeſty's ſhip Hampſhire, and a frigate. A gentleman, who came paſſenger in Captain Haig's veſſel, has favoured us with the following advices, viz.

The third of November Commodore Keppel arrived at Port-Royal, with the Valiant, Orford, Nottingham and Temeraire, and brought in a French 50 gun ſhip, a frigate, and 9 merchantmen, all richly laden with ſugars, &c. from Cape Francois for Old France; which he fell in with on his way from Havannah to Jamaica, in the Windward Paſſage; only two merchantmen and one frigate eſcaped: The frigate taken, is ſaid to have 400,000 dollars on board, Spaniſh property, ſent to Cape Francois from the Havannah, before that place was inveſted, to be ſhipped from thence for Europe.---Nov. 8th. At 45 minutes paſt 8 in the morning, a great ſhock of an earthquake was felt at Kingſton, which laſted 15 ſeconds, and ſo terrified the inhabitants, that they ran into the ſtreets, fearing their houſes would fall.----Nov. 17th. Arrived at Port-Royal, a French tranſport ſhip, with 84 grenadiers on board, taken by his Majeſty's ſhip Roſe, Capt. Nott. The priſoners ſaid, they came out from Breſt the latter end of September, with 15 other tranſports, under convoy of 7 men of war, with 5000 troops, deſtined to ſuccour the Spaniards at the Havannah.---Nov. 18th. Capt. Wright, in the Mars privateer of New-York, came into Port-Royal, having narrowly eſcaped being taken by the aforeſaid French fleet, which he fell in with juſt to windward of the Cape, and judged to be Engliſh cruiſers, till he ſaw them all go into the harbour: He afterwards diſcovered an encampment upon the hill, about two miles weſt of the town.---Nov. 20th. Three ſhips of the line, and as many frigates, ſailed on a cruiſe from Jamaica, who were ordered to join the Hampſhire's convoy off Cape-Nichola, and ſee them ſafe through the paſſage.---Nov. 22d. A large ſloop came into Port-Royal, and brought an account, that the Richmond and Danae frigates had taken two more French tranſports, full of troops, part of the fleet already mentioned.---The ſame day, three leagues from Port-Royal, met a privateer, belonging to Virginia, going in with a large French homeward bound ſhip, which ſhe had taken.---December 3d, the Hampſhire's Convoy was ſeparated in a gale of wind, between Navaſſa and Cape Tiberoon, which obliged many of them to bear away. The 14th, about 33 of them got together again near Cape Nichola, where the convoy was joined by ſix men of war, that ſailed from Jamaica the 25th of November. The whole have to under the land, in order to refit ſuch merchantmen as had carried away ſpars, &c.---Dec. 17th. A Providence privateer, called the Abigail, Capt, Wells, commander, came into the fleet at Nichola, and gave information, that on the 10th a privateer ſhip belonging to New-York, commanded by Capt. Oman, and a privateer ſloop belonging to Rhode-Iſland, Capt. Cranſton, were taken, and carried into the Cape, by two French 64 gun ſhips; Capt. Wells took up Cranſton's boat, and ſeven hands, that were fiſhing; the privateers were at anchor, and the French ſhips ſhewed Engliſh colours. Dec. 18th. The King George privateer, Capt. Kemp, of New-Providence, anchored amongſt the fleet at Cape Nichola, who ſaid he had taken a large French ſhip in the Bite of Leoganne, which he intended to ſee to Providence; but that he was parted from his prize in a gale of wind near the Old Straits, and had ſince learnt, that the French crew, being 14 in number, roſe on the 12 men he put on board, overpowered them, and had carried the ſhip to Baracoa.---Dec. 19th. The whole fleet got under way from Cape Nichola, and the ſame night Capt. Haig loſt ſight of them.

It is ſaid, that the back parts of this province will ſoon be much better ſettled than ever, abundance of people coming daily from the Northward to view the lands, who being charmed with its fertility, and finding the weather exceeding more moderate than in the northern climates, intend to apply for grants for the ſame.

By the conqueſt of Canada, it is computed that there are 52,000 gunmen of different nations of Indians reduced to his Majeſty's obedience.

The number of ſea-veſſels in the port of Charles-Town, Jan. 1ſt, 1763, ſtands thus, viz. 1 man of war, 3 tranſport-ſhips, 10 other ſhips, 6 ſnows, 1 ketch, 12 brigantines, 10 ſchooners, and 20 ſloops; in all 69 ſail.

A ſloop bound in here, ---------- Gorham, maſter, from Cape Fear, with a valuable cargoe, was caſt away yeſterday ſe'ennight, in a ſtorm, near Nantaſket, the people all got ſafe aſhore, and the ſloop afterwards drove out in the bay, and on a reef juſt without the light-houſe, where ſhe now lies entirely under water, and it is thought ſhe will be entirely loſt.
